Re: 13th International Papillomavirus Conference (Amsterdam, October 8 - 12, 1994)

Dear Mr. Hashim,

From October 8 - 12, 1994 the 13th International Papillomavirus Conference will be held in the Rai Congress Centre Amsterdam.

A large number of clinicians are expected to attend the Conference on October 11, because the attention will then be focussed on the significance for clinical medicine. The organization of this day rests for the greater part with dr. Th.J.M. Helmerhorst (dept. of Gynaecologic Oncology, The Netherlands Cancer Institute Amsterdam) and Prof.dr. F.B. Lammes (dept. of Obstetrics and Gynaecology, University of Amsterdam).

We expect approximately 500 participants representing over 30 countries and a large number of disciplines, such as pathology, epidemiology, immunology, virology, molecular biology and clinical medicine, gynaecology, dermatology, otolaryngology indicating the expanding impact of papillomavirus research in medicine.

Since the organization of such an event involves considerable expenses, we would therefore like to know whether your company would be interested in sponsoring this meeting.
There is a possibility to participate in an industrial exhibition. The rental fee for exhibition space is Dfl. 800,- per m^2 for the duration of the Conference (minimum of 5 m^2).
It is possible to participate part of the Workshop (e.g. only October 11). In this case, the rental fee is Dfl. 350,- per m^2 (minimum of 5 m^2).

Besides an industrial exhibition, other forms of sponsoring are possible, such as:
1. an advertisement in the abstractbook
2. insert a brochure in delegates'packs : Dfl. 1000,-
3. travelling and hotel expenses for guests speakers
4. supplying conference bags
5. sponsoring of the social program and of course other forms of sponsoring are discussable.
